

My NORWF Sisters,

Happy April / Happy Easter

Easter is supposed to be a joyful time to celebrate new life, but it's easy to lose the spring in your step when you're struggling. While your kids want to dye Easter eggs, you may be wrestling to believe God can renew your marriage or provide a new job. You may not feel like celebrating Jesus' victory over death if you are struggling to believe; He'll come through for you. Maybe you are praying for a sick friend or a wayward child, but you don't see any answer. Celebrating the Resurrection comes hard when your hope is all but dead. Yet God's Word tells us that faith as small as a mustard seed is all we need to move mountains.

Recently I came across a stunning example of hope in a Bible passage I had read at least 50 times before without ever noticing it. The story of the criminal on the cross next to Jesus illustrates the power of even the smallest glimmer of faith. What can we learn about hope in difficult circumstances from the convict who died on the cross next to Jesus?

As he himself lay dying on a Roman cross, this man cried out, "Jesus, remember me when you come into your kingdom." (Luke 23: 42) How could he possibly hope that Jesus, nailed and tied to a cross, could be the Messiah King the Jews were waiting for? How could this criminal possibly expect Jesus to come into power after being crucified at the hands of the Roman Empire? And how did he muster up enough faith and courage to call on Jesus while he himself suffered torture? Surely his best hope was a quick death.

Yet somehow the man had a glimmer of faith, and he exercised it by calling on Jesus: "Remember me when you come into your kingdom."

We find three powerful words at the heart of his prayer: "Jesus, remember me!"

Isn't that what faith is? Aren't we all hoping that God will remember us and remember our prayer?

May God Bless you and America,

Susan
